

Connecting Students with their Public Lands

Project Title	Connecting Students with their Public Lands
Project Summary	Support natural resources conservation work in the beautiful forests of Kentucky by joining our team in developing a directory of internship opportunities for the Daniel Boone National Forest.
Country	United States

Project Description

Research and build a directory of intern programs to aid Daniel Boone National forest managers in recruiting interns. The directory should include internship programs, other special labor sources (e.g. AmeriCorps), recommended forums for advertising internship opportunities to college students, and potential grant sources for funding interns. The directory should be created using Microsoft office products.

Additional Information

The work primarily involves researching internship programs and grant opportunities on the internet; contacting internship or funding program coordinators for information; and writing or compiling information into a concise, well organized format using a Microsoft office suite product, such as Microsoft Word other format to be agreed on with the supervisor. The project also involves presenting the draft and final written product to forest managers through a virtual presentation. The Forest will provide a conference line connection for the presentation of the product to forest managers. The VSFS intern is to provide all other resources needed to complete the project.
